

Dr Kym Simoncini

Dr Kym Simoncini is an Assistant Professor of Early Childhood and Primary Education at the University of Canberra. Her research in Australia examines early childhood STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering and Mathematics) learning and ways to support parents and educators in promoting children's interest and engagement in these subjects.

Kym is part of the Early Learning STEM Australia (ELSA) project and regularly delivers professional learning on STEM in the early years.

