

Celeste Carnegie

Celeste is a Birrigubba, South Sea Islander woman from the tropics of Far North Queensland, currently studying a Bachelor of Technology and Innovation at the University of Technology, Sydney. Celeste is a learning experience designer who creates educational activities with digital technologies, while supporting communities to develop their own sustainable programs. Celeste is passionate about supporting and empowering young people to achieve their goals. Her mission is to create safe spaces where Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples can come together, create, innovate and learn.